

REGULATION NO. 3
of the Rector of Cracow University of Technology
of the 11th January 2022.
Ref. no. R.0201.3.2022 on the organisation of the educational process realised at Cracow University of Technology in the summer semester of the academic year 2021/2022

Pursuant to Art. 23 para. 1 of the act of the 20th July 2018 Law on Higher Education and Science (J.of L. of 2021, item 478, as amended), it has been regulated as follows:

Art. 1

1. All activities related to the educational process realised at the 1st and 2nd cycle study programmes, at doctoral programmes, at the Doctoral School, at postgraduate study programmes and in all other study programmes in the summer semester of the academic year 2021/2022 are to be conducted on-site at the seat of the university, with the provision that safe conditions for said activities are ensured, taking into account the current degree of the epidemic hazard, pursuant to the rules specified in para. 2 and subject to para. 4.
2. Teaching activities at the site of CUT are to be organised and conducted while taking into account the following safety precautions:
 - 1) persons who:
 - a. stay at the same home as a person who is currently being quarantined or isolated at home,
 - b. who are quarantined or isolated at home must not take part in the classes;
 - 2) students, doctoral students and participants of the postgraduate or other types of study programmes who experience symptoms suggesting the disease caused by the coronavirus SARS-CoV-2 (i.e. cough, fever, difficulty breathing, loss of the sense of smell, loss or disturbance of the sense of taste) should remain at home and contact a physician;
 - 3) students, doctoral students and participants of the postgraduate or other types of study programmes are required to cover their mouths and noses with masks while remaining within the CUT buildings;
 - 4) no third persons, other than students, doctoral students, participants of the postgraduate or other types of study programmes and university employees, may stay in the rooms where classes are conducted;
 - 5) prior to entering the room where classes are to be held, participants are required to disinfect their hands; in reasonably justified situations (e.g. where more than one person uses the same apparatus, where computers are used), it is advisable to use protective gloves;
 - 6) rooms in which classes are held are to be disinfected and aired regularly;
 - 7) a safe distance – of no less than 1.5 metre – is to be kept before, during and after classes;
 - 8) where it is impossible to ensure the adequate distance between students or doctoral students during class due to the number of class participants or the number of seats in the classroom, groups are to be divided into smaller ones or an adequately sized classroom is to be provided or classes are to be conducted with the use of the methods and techniques of remote education; decision on the matter is to be made by relevant deans responsible for the educational process at given 1st and 2nd cycle study programmes or doctoral programmes as well as the Head of the Doctoral School, taking into account the provisions of the regulation of the Minister of Science and Higher Education of the 27th September 2018 on study programmes (J. of L. of 2021, item 661) referring to the share of this type of classes in the 1st and 2nd cycle study programmes; the decision is to be made known to class participants no later than 7 days prior to the commencement of the educational cycle; classes with the participation of Visiting Professors may also be conducted with the use of the methods and techniques of remote education if the epidemic situation prevents the teachers holding the classes from conducting them at the site of the university – the decision on the matter remains with the deans;

- 9) where it is impossible to ensure the adequate distance between participants of postgraduate or other types of study programmes during class due to the number of class participants or the number of seats in the classroom, groups are to be divided into smaller ones or an adequately sized classroom is to be provided or classes are to be held with the use of the methods and techniques of remote education; the decision on the matter is to be taken by: deans – in the case of postgraduate and other types of study programmes held at the faculty, heads of other university units – in the case of postgraduate courses and other types of study programmes held by these units; the CUT Rector's Representative for Education – in the case of inter-faculty, inter-university and international post graduate and other types of study programmes conducted jointly; the decision is to be made known to class participants no later than 7 days prior to the commencement of the educational cycle.
3. Deans, the Head of the Doctoral School and heads of other university units inform students, doctoral students and participants of postgraduate and other types of study programmes of the safety regulations referred to in para. 2 by placing the relevant information on the Internet websites of their units, information boards or at the entrance to the classrooms.
 4. When the information has been obtained that a student, doctoral student or a participant of a postgraduate or other type of study programme, or an academic teacher has tested positive for the presence of the SARS-CoV-2 virus, the faculty dean, the Head of the Doctoral School, head of another university unit or the CUT Rector's Representative for Education, respectively, may decide that classes are to be conducted with the use of the methods and techniques of remote education for the group whose participant is the infected person.

Art. 2

If the epidemic situation changes during the semester, the organisation of the educational process in the summer semester of the academic year 2021/2022 may also change.

Art. 3

The Regulation enters into force on the day of its announcement.
